"AMERICAN EDITORS" AND THEIR LABORS.

The great work of making out GEORGE R. McKee a friend of Common Schools is still progressing in the smaller order of Know Nothing newspapers. It is rather an uphill business, it is true, but these tremendous "American editors" are equal to it. If the old granny of the Shelby News will only furnish the lists fast enough we will go on to the "American editors" will make it appear to their own satisfaction that Geo. R. McKee is the very man who invented Common Schools. It is true that to do so they have to contradict the Louisville Journal, the Journal of the House of Representatives, and the celebrated speech of McKee himself, but all these obstacles vanish before their terrible pens like chaff before a windmill. They are great fellows, these "American editors." They have a tremendous influence with the people of Kentucky, tremendous! Just examine the election returns for the last four years, and weep! What has produced this mighty change in Kentucky? Ans. The writings of these "American editors"—over the left.

McKee is bound to be elected! The "American editors" have said it. They elected FILLMORE in the same way—and T. LOVELLY JONES, only a little more so. Who would not be an "American editor?" Don't all speak at once.

GRAND BALL.—The young gentlemen of this city intend to give a Grand Ball at the Capital Hotel on Wednesday, the 16th inst. If we can judge from the preparations being made, it will be really a grand affair, quite as brilliant as any given last winter by the Assembly Ball Club. We are saying quite enough to satisfy the most fastidious, when we notice that the managers of this are chiefly the same as those who did so much to add to the gaieties and festivities of our city last season. The lovers of music will be regaled by STRAUSS' delightful music, and epicures will not complain of the table, which will abound in all the luxuries of the season.

ARREST.—BEN. ARNOLD, Postmaster at Elkhorn, in this county, was arrested by Assistant Marshall JETT, on Saturday last, on a charge of robbing the mail. He was lodged in jail in this city, and awaiting an examination when our paper went to press. Mr. ARNOLD is an old citizen of this county, and has heretofore borne an excellent character.

JAMES PATTERSON has been sentenced by the U. S. District Court at Indianapolis to the Indiana penitentiary for four years and fined $100 for counterfeiting. EPHRAIM AND HENRY KERNER, found guilty of like charges, have been sentenced, the former for three years and a fine of $1 and the latter for two years and a fine of $1.

Captain H. CROWELL, his officers and crew, of the ship John and Albert, of Boston, now at New Orleans have published a detailed and sworn statement of the particulars of the chase, firing into and boarding of that vessel on the 17th of May, within twenty-five miles of Havana. The ship had five shots fired at her in succession, and she was finally compelled to leave to in a fresh breeze, with all sail standing at the risk of losing the ship's spars. The officer who boarded the ship examined the papers, examined the crew-list, and then left. His language was not particularly civil.

JAMES B. SMITH has been held to bail in the sum of $5,000 to answer a charge of fraud in altering the record in the office of the Comptroller of New York city.

The store of Mr. JOHNSON, at Pleasantville, on the Louisville and Frankfort Railroad, was broken into on the night of the 3d inst., and robbed of $150.

Dr. S. V. HUNTER, of Kentucky, has been appointed pursuer in the U. S. Navy.

What has become of all those 1856 "young orators?" Did they die with Sam? Why don't they come out and astonish the world yet again with their wisdom and eloquence? We remember one of them—"young McKINNEY." Mr. Henderson Commercial, who is young McKINNEY? We haven't heard of him for two years.

Confirmation of the Mormon News.

A Washington despatch to the New York Post says the Secretary of War had received despatches from Gen. A. S. JOHNSON, confirming the report that Gov. CUMMINGS was driven out of Salt Lake City.

[From the Cincinnati Enquirer, Sunday.]

UTAH NEWS AND MORMON HOSTILITY CONTINUED.—The following private despatch was received in this city yesterday afternoon:

"WASHINGTON, Saturday, June 5.

"CAPTAIN CHAS. ERNST, General Harney telegraphed Secretary Floyd, confirming late Utah news, and asks for reinforcements.

"C. CROSS."

BATTLE BETWEEN THE TEXAN RANGERS AND INDIANS.—A telegraph dispatch from New Orleans, June 1, reports a bloody fight in the northern part of Texas, between Captain Ford's Rangers and a large body of Comanche Indians. Loss—Indians, 76 killed, 17 prisoners taken, several wounded, and 300 horses taken. Rangers, one white, one Indian killed and two wounded. The fight was running one, and extended a distance of six miles.

"Fight and Negotiate Afterwards."

Such is the caption of a leader in the N. O. Bee, referring to the shameful outrages committed by British cruisers in the Gulf upon American ships.

"Fight and negotiate afterwards" is the doctrine of the plucky old PALMERSTON, and it would be well for us if we adopted it immediately instead of resorting to tedious diplomacy. Our contemporary says:

"There seems to be but one decent, honorable and courageous mode of settling this matter. Fight first, and negotiate afterwards. We are told that a part of the Home Squadron has been dispatched to the Gulf of Mexico, with instructions to protect our vessels from British insolence. This is not enough, and certainly not specific. The proper mode of proceeding—and one which would forthwith bring the question to a direct and distinct issue—would be to instruct our Navy to capture or sink the very first British cruiser that fires into or boards an American vessel. In the meanwhile, the Secretary of State and the English Plenipotentiary may indulge in as many explanatory notes as they find convenient or agreeable. The only diplomatic worth using on the occasion is a practical one, and easily understood."

Good for the Bee! That's the talk!

The Tendency of the Republican Party.

We call attention to the following, which we clip from the Toledo (O.) Blade, a staunch Republican paper. It shows very clearly that the tendency of that party is to the social and political equality of the whites and blacks:

"Most of the Republican members of the Senate have expressed themselves very decidedly against the admission of Oregon under its tyrannical and unrepugnant provisions in regard to citizenship. It unites negroes, not only negroes, but Chinamen, and takes another step in the direction of aristocracy, inaugurated by the Dred Scott decision. The Declaration of Independence and the Revolutionary fathers started out with the Christian idea that all men are equal in regard to rights; but the influence of slavery is rapidly converting the country into an oligarchy. Of course, if black men have no rights which white men are bound to respect, men of red hair, or blue eyes, or small stature, or men born abroad, or Chinamen, may be in the same position. An aristocracy founded on color, or size, or birthplace, is just as unrepugnant to an aristocracy founded on family or military services."

More British Outrages.—Brig Mianus Detained by the Styx.—Boarded and Overhauled.—High Words.

Capt. Purkis, of the brig Mianus, arrived yesterday morning, from Black River (Jamaica), reports that on May 29, in lat. 24° 19', lon. 82°, the British war steamer Styx, was directly ahead of the Mianus, and when abreast of her, the Styx lowered a boat and fired a gun for the brig to heave to—blowing fresh at the time, and the brig having standing fresh set, the latter was unable for some time to comply, when the sound of another gun came booming over the water. This was shot for the effect of its motion over the surface of the water could be seen distinctly from the bows of the Mianus. The captain fearing he might receive a plumper, got his vessel around as soon as possible, and was soon boarded. The officer in command appeared much vexed because the brig was so long heaving to, and was very impatient in his commands. The men on board the Mianus were disposed to laugh at the pompous speech and manner of the boarding officer, which excited the blue-jacket wonderfully, and he demanded of the captain of the brig if he knew who and what was he. The Yankee replied that he didn't care a d—d who or what he was, but if I had a bigger ship and properly armed you should know who and what I was. Some few remarks followed, when the officer was informed where the vessel was from, where she belonged, what was her cargo, what her destination, etc., and after having detained the brig over an hour, allowed her to proceed on her passage.—N. Y. News, 3d.

EIGHT SLAVES MANUMITTED AND PROVIDED FOR.—Some days since, Richard A. Buckner, Esq., made a deposit of $3,000 with J. R. Morton & Co., bankers, of this city. This morning the special object of the deposit was ascertained. He has manumitted eight slaves, all of whom arrived in this city this morning, and measures were taken to give them their freedom. The money deposited with Morton & Co. is for their benefit and use. This is doing the thing up thoroughly.—Cin. Times.

The Overflow of the Lower Mississippi.

A gentleman writing from Washington county, Mississippi, to the Memphis Enquirer says:

I will give you a small idea of the water in this section of country. The break in the Tail-Bend was down to the level of the water. The water has drowned out from the bend, by back water, the plantations for fifty or sixty miles below Lake Washington, and the land is going under deeper every day; nothing will save the country but a sudden fall in the river. The river here at this time is about a foot lower than the first rise we had; this is some six or eight inches higher than 1844. The cut-off in the Tail-Bend gives us more water here than it would otherwise by nearly two feet. The river appears to be at about a stand here at present.

The crops, that is what are out of water, look bad, especially cotton and corn; everybody is low spirited and all are anxious for a speedy fall of the river. I could give you the names of the planters under water but they are too numerous to name. The breaks in the river are few, and little or no damage has been done; the breaks have been mostly mended. The levees are not safe yet, as the crawfish have gone to work and are doing a great deal of damage to them; they cannot stand the water much longer, as they are fast getting rotten, and the water has been against them for so long a time. We cannot yet say what the damage will amount to or what the water will do yet, but all are anxious to know their doom.—It is now too late to plant cotton before the water can possibly fall.

A letter to the New Orleans Picayune, dated Lafourche, May 28, mentions another crevasse:

We are again afloat; there is a new crevasse on the Hebert place; it occurred on Wednesday, 26th. The water is spreading rapidly, and it is feared that it will not be arrested, as the planters have become dispirited, not having had a respite of a week, and their affairs are all suffering. Mr. P. L. Cox and Mr. Wm. Littlejohn are at this moment the "babobs" who are most at sea.—Should the crevasse not be stopped, they will find many sympathizing brothers.

We poor farmers have lost our corn, our all. Some of my neighbors are now wading about in their gardens fishing for onions.

The New Orleans Picayune of the 30th says:

The river at this point has for a week past been about on a stand, and the crevasse on the side opposite to the city have long since been looked upon as established institutions, and, having done all the damage they could, are allowed quietly to fulfill their destiny by filling up the swamps in their vicinity, thereby extending the breadth of cultivable land on the plantations in their neighborhood. There is now no probability of their being closed till the river settles down into its ordinary channel.

The Memphis Bulletin says:

At Hopefield, on the opposite side of the river, the water appears to be higher than it was at any time this season. The town itself is not overflooded and will not be unless the water comes much higher than is at present anticipated. The large district of country back of Hopefield, however, is completely submerged by the water coming from the break in the levee near Barton's Landing, some four or five miles above this city. The water from the main channel of the river has not yet reached the Arkansas State levee, and, from all appearances, will not reach it.—There is considerable back water from the break in the levee at Duke's plantation some miles below this city. There is no current in the water now covering the Little Rock railroad track, and no damage can possibly be done to the road bed by the overflow, except what results from the temporary suspension of the work on the road.

The telegraph reports the Mississippi falling at St. Louis. The Illinois was out of its banks. The town of Naples was partly submerged, the levee being cut in two places. The water was so high that it was necessary to build a raft of logs and planks, and the inhabitants fled for safety. A similar state of affairs existed off the Upper Mississippi. A letter from Hannibal to the St. Louis Democrat says:

The water is nearly over the levee here. Persons living in the bottom across the river in Illinois are moving in a hurry. A large quantity of stock has been drowned in the last two or three days. Our ferry is running night and day, removing their stock. Times are awful dull; no produce coming in from the country. Our merchants have commenced moving everything out of their cellars on the levee. River rising fast at this time.

The unusual height of the Illinois above LaSalle—twelve feet water on the prairie—will admit steamboat navigation to Utica and Ottawa, the first time for many years.

BILLY BOWLENS is quite a lion in New Orleans. On Monday week last he visited the office of the True Delta, where he exhibited much curiosity at the working of the press. The proprietor, knowing BILLY's penchant for good liquor had generously provided two gallons of punch for him and his friends, to which they did full justice. BILLY made a speech, pretty much as follows:

"White men! I stand up here big brave warrior. I kill her your people before, I can do him again easy; give Billy seven good men to follow on the war track and he lick all the United States, scalp big father at Washington! Whoop!"

"White men! Billy may be kill your father, your mother, your papoose, maybe; but all done now. Billy have no more war talk; he smoke pipe and drink beer in burr, and he smoke white man's brother. He left Florida and he white man's brother; he go to the setting sun and die; see chief Tiger Tail there—mean chief; run away long ago; Billy show him bottom of his foot and spit on him. Chief of True Delta Billy's brother—good man—great general—Billy drink whiskey with True Delta!"

The True Delta proceeds:

With the spirited peroration of his address, the chief dismounted from his elevation. At this juncture Col. Turner, who is quite an intelligent young man, as well of some natural wit and vivacity, feeling the would not be able to deliver the chief back to the agent in good order and condition, "as per bill of lading, aptly remarked, 'Billy you'll get drunk,' to which the illustrious Floridian promptly retorted, 'you get drunk first—ugh!'"

In a few minutes the two gallons of punch had marvelously disappeared before the attacks of the crowd, and with it ended the interesting interview. The escort of the great Seminole led him to his carriage, and after he was comfortably seated therein, with his favorite rifle, he saluted the admiring crowd with a small rehearsal of his war-whoop.

From the office he was driven to the wax-works in Vanuuchi's Museum, which entertained him highly. He recognized the cast of General Taylor, said he was a great chief, but that he "licked him before." He asked for that "blessed baby" of Mrs. Cunningham, saying it was like "Willy," a favorite child of his named after him. He was shown the figure of General Jackson, and he said that he was a little boy when the General took Florida from the Spaniards; that he was a great man, but dead now, and he (Billy) had taken his place. He wanted to know what tribe Judas Iscariot belonged to, and showed strong marks of incredulity when told by Col. Turner that Judas was a Chetach. Couldn't he Billy on that. Some one asked him if he knew General Harney. "Yes," said he, "Billy makes him run like hell!" A remark which betrayed the demoralizing influence of civilization.

From Vanuuchi's magnificent establishment, the chief was escorted to a photographic gallery where an excellent likeness of him was taken.—He died at the City Hotel, and used his knife and fork like a white man, and would only have one article of food on his plate at a time, and was continually calling for plates, as his royal plate desired various victuals. Late in the afternoon General Bowles and escort were seen getting from their carriage to take something before starting for the barracks. He was still as calm, serious, and impassable as ever, while several of his portly companions who had been with him during the whole heat of the day, gave evidence of having suffered in action.

Democratic Meeting in Hopkins.

At a meeting of the Democracy of Hopkins county, held in the town of Madisonville, Ky., on Monday, May 24th, 1858, (that being the first day of the Hopkins Circuit Court), on motion, Col. Wm. B. PARKER was called to the chair, and C. C. HARDWICK appointed Secretary.

The Chairman explained the object of the meeting, which was to nominate candidates for the various county offices.

On motion, the Chair appointed a committee, consisting of Col. Wm. BRADLEY, Dr. JOHN RAY, JOHN B. WALKER, Dr. O. L. DRAKE and JAMES CLARKE, to prepare resolutions expressive of the views of the Democracy of Hopkins.

The committee retired, and the meeting then went into the nomination for the various offices. The following ticket was unanimously nominated:

County Judge—Sam. Morton.

Circuit Clerk—Geo. C. Brannagh.

County Clerk—Elijah Bassett.

Sheriff—John R. Cargill.

County Attorney—Amos K. Bradley.

Surveyor—Wm. Buntin.

Jailer—John D. Hardwick.

Assessor—Wm. W. Kirkwood.

Coroner—Jas. D. Bailey.

The committee on resolutions made the following report:

Whereas, In a government like ours, the sentiments of the great body of the people give tone to the administrative policy of the institutions of the country; and whereas, that sentiment is most correctly arrived at by the expressions of primary assemblies of the people, we deem the present a fitting occasion for the Democracy of Hopkins county to give utterance to their opinions; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we reiterate our unwavering attachment to all the great cardinal truths of the Democratic creed, as embodied in the platforms of the several national conventions of the Democratic party.

Resolved further, That as a practical exponent of these great principles, James Buchanan has proven himself eminently worthy of the high trust reposed in him, and his administration has thus far, been such as to commend itself for firmness, prudence, and statesmanlike forecast, to every lover of patriotism in the confederacy.

Resolved, That we especially and with pride, point to his course on the Kansas question as a full and complete refutation of all the base slanders heaped upon him in the canvass by his enemies, who charged him with Abolition proclivities. He has exhibited a patriotism and devotion to the constitution as broad as the Union itself, and has given another evidence of the fact that the only hope of the patriot for the prosperity of the Union and its glorious institutions, is based upon the success of the national Democratic party.

Resolved, That we contrast with pride the course of the Democratic delegation from Kentucky, in the present Congress, with that of John Crittenden, Stephen Marshall, and Warner L. Underwood, and while we congratulate our brethren throughout the State upon the unity of action on the part of their representatives, both Democrats and old-line Whigs, we feel that we cannot as Southern men, too strongly condemn the action of those who, by their votes and influence, endeavored to range Kentucky under the banner of the Republicanism.

Resolved, That for our course in Congress upon the Kansas question, respecting as he did, the true sentiment of Kentucky, the Hon. John B. Thompson has amply illustrated the triumph of principle over party trammel and fanaticism, and commands the admiration of all true men.

Resolved, That in the person of R. R. Revill, of the Court of Appeals, we recognize the true Democrat and the high-toned gentleman, a man worthy of the united support for the office to which he aspires.

Resolved, That we consider it to be the first duty of each and every Democrat throughout the county to abide by and labor zealously for all the regular nominees of this convention, and hereby pledge ourselves to their support.

All of the above resolutions were unanimously adopted.

A. J. Lisk offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we have entire confidence in the ability, sagacity, and integrity of our distinguished fellow-citizen, Col. William Bradley.

Resolved, therefore, That it would be but a just compliment to him for the eminent services which he has so long rendered the party of this State to elect him Governor in 1859, and that he is hereby recommended to the party of the State as the first and unanimous choice of this county, for Governor in 1859.

M. C. Givens offered the following resolution which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That owing to the inconvenience attending large conventions, it is by this convention recommended, that hereafter the several districts of this county hold meetings at such times and places as they may deem proper, and that each district be held for the purpose of nominating candidates for county offices, and that each district be allowed one vote for every fifty Democratic votes in their district.

DIED.

In Bridgeport, 28th May, after a long and painful illness, Miss MARY ELIZA JENKINS, aged 38 years.

Our sister has left us for a happier sphere. Where angelic choruses are chanting so clear. Where mortal bow not 'neath affliction's stern rod. Where all are immortal and praising their God.—She has gone to her rest!

She hath gone to her God—she'll not call her back. To journey again o'er life's rugged track. Though sadly we miss our loved one at rest, We submitively bow—God doeth all for the best.—She hath gone to rest!

Dislocated Joints.—Next in degree to the pain caused by a dislocated joint, is that arising from the setting of blood around the part, and the effusion of coagulated lymph under the skin. The proper treatment to remove this disagreeable and invariably attendant upon dislocations and bruises, is to apply some powerfully penetrating and diffusive Liniment, with gentle frictions, over the part. The best Liniment now in use, for this purpose, is BRAGO'S ARCTIC LINIMENT, which may be obtained at any respectable drug store. It is also cooling and soothing in its effect, and allays the pain almost immediately.

Boehave's HOLLAND BITTERS.—We have been selling Boehave's Holland Bitters for some months; and, although, when it was first introduced, we did not urge its sale, being unacquainted with the article; still we found the public demanded to have it, and to meet the demand we have been obliged to purchase more of this article than we ever have of any other patent medicine whatever.—Every day brings new testimonials of its efficacy in removing the various complaints for which it is recommended, and in offering it to our customers, we do so with more confidence in its virtues than is due to most preparations of the kind.
